Position in the project:	PhD student
Scientific discipline:	Interdisciplinary sciences including pharmacology, immunology, cell biology
Job type (employment contract/stipend):	PhD stipend / (in specific cases instead of a PhD stipend an employment contract might be offered)
Number of job offers:	1
Remuneration/stipend amount/month ("X0 000 PLN of full remuneration cost, i.e. expected net salary at X 000 PLN"):	Stipend 3500-4500 PLN/ month (in case of employment contract, a net salary in the same amount)
Position starts on:	Winter Semester (academic year 2019/2020)
Maximum period of contract/stipend agreement:	30/09/2022
Institution:	International Centre for Cancer Vaccine Science, University of Gdańsk, Poland
Project leaders:	Dr. Ted Hupp, Dr. Robin Fahraeus
Project title:	International Centre for Cancer Vaccine Science Project is carried out within the International Research Agenda Programme of the Foundation for Polish Science
Project description:	The International Centre for Cancer Vaccine Science (ICCVS) is an innovative new partnership between the University of Gdańsk and the University of Edinburgh addressing a major challenge in cancer medicine. The ICCVS based at the University of Gdańsk, supported by the Foundation for Polish Science, aims to create a world-leading research cluster in the discovery, characterization and translation of molecular mechanisms in cancer immunological science. We are now seeking biologist doctoral students to use world-renowned resources alongside a team of scientists generating datasets in the fields of cancer immunology, virology, vaccinology, antibody technologies, mass spectrometry, computational science, analytical chemistry, protein science, cell signaling and veterinary science. PhD Topic: Pre-clinical model of T- cell based therapy of lung cancer
Key responsibilities include:	Developing an independent PhD thesis, working in a team, inter-disciplinary training requirements, and advanced PhD transferable skills coursework to fulfill the requirements of a PhD degree.

Profile of candidates/requirements:	For this role, we seek a student who can be trained in cross disciplinary fields such as fields including cancer immunology, virology, vaccinology, antibody technologies, computational science, analytical chemistry, protein science, cell signaling and veterinary science.
Required documents:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • CV • Motivation letter • copy of Master's degree or equivalent in biology, medicine, biotechnology or related sciences allowing to embark on PhD studies • reference letter(s) from an academic supervisor • documents confirming the scientific achievements or qualifications of the candidate, in particular copies of publications, language certificates, certificates confirming the award of an academic award, internship or membership in scientific clubs/associations, oral presentations and posters on conferences, scientific fellowships, international trainings etc. • PhD students candidates after a successful interview at ICCVS are required to proceed enrollment at the Intercollegiate UG-MUG Doctoral School confirmation of enrollment into the Intercollegiate UG-MUG Doctoral School is a prerequisite for receiving a stipend for this position.
We offer:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The ICCVS is housed in state-of-the-art facilities at the UG with facilities for mass spectrometry, virology, protein biochemistry, vaccine technology and bioinformatics. • Students will have the opportunity to develop skills in machine learning and high performance computing. The center has access to Cyfronet Prometheus (~55, 000 cores) and CI TASK Tryton (~38, 000 cores) clusters, which are consistently represented among the top 500 super computers in the world. • ICCVS researchers will have joint supervision with scientists at the University of Edinburgh, within strategic platforms for stem cell science, phenotypic drug screening, synthetic biology, computational science, structural biology,

	veterinary medicine, and optical imaging (www.optima-cdt.ac.uk) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The ICCVS provides an exceptional opportunity for motivated PhD students to work in an international multidisciplinary training environment to tackle major challenges at the interface between basic cancer discovery science and translational medicine.
Please submit the following documents to:	iccvs@ug.edu.pl
Application deadline:	25.12.2019
