BARTEK TOMASIK

Bartek is a clinician - a certified radiation oncologist and a scientist - an assistant professor at the Medical University of Gdańsk. He is a specialist in radiation therapy as well as biomarker discovery.

Bartek obtained his medical degree as well as a PhD from the Medical University of Lodz. His work was recognized by the Polish Society of Clinical Oncology. Additionally, he completed postgraduate studies at the Medical University of Warsaw. After that, he did his postdoc at Harvard Medical School (USA).

Currently, Bartek is a coordinator of a research group that works on radiotherapy's physical and clinical aspects. In addition, he is on the management board of an EU funded project, STOPSTORM.
